LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Arts Club Theatre Company acknowledges the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territories of the x̣ṃəθḳ'əỵəm, Skwxwú7mesh, and səlilwətał Nations, the original stewards of this land on which we operate. We would like to ask those visiting or living here to share their thanks by supporting local Indigenous artists and communities. Acknowledging is always a start to supporting; as we step forward, we wish to be better partners, healers, and helpers to our Indigenous neighbours.

WELCOME

In April, we had the opportunity to attend the annual conference of the Professional Association of Canadian Theatres. This year, it was held in Whitehorse, the capital of the Yukon and a part of the country we had not visited before. What a powerful reminder that was of the dramatic landscapes and sweeping beauty Canada holds. It was also a reminder of the grit and determination of the people who make up her soul—qualities that endure without ever diminishing the values that define us as Canadians: kindness, empathy, and generosity.

Those values are right at the heart of Come From Away. This remarkable Canadian musical captures a moment in history when, in the face of global uncertainty, a small community chose compassion. It reminds us that who we are—especially in times of crisis—is shaped by how we show up for one another.

This co-production with our colleagues at The Citadel Theatre in Edmonton is also a celebration of Canadian artistry. From the writers who first brought this story to life to the artists you see on stage today, our production reflects the depth of talent that exists locally and across this country. That is something in which we take real pride in.

As we welcome visitors from around the world to our city this summer, there is something meaningful in sharing these stories and values with them. Theatre has a unique way of connecting us, of reminding us of our shared humanity, and of celebrating what makes a place and its people distinct.

If you believe in the importance of local, professional, not-for-profit theatre, we encourage you to take the next step and join us for our 2026–2027 season.

Subscribing is the best way to experience the full breadth of Canadian talent on our stages, while also supporting the artists and stories that reflect who we are. Making a tax-deductible donation when you subscribe supports not only the work you see on stage, but also our education and new work development programs in the community.

You can subscribe online at artsclub.com, or by calling our Box Office at 604.687.1644. We'd love to have you with us for a season of extraordinary work—and for our continued celebration of Canadian talent!

Enjoy!

COME FROM AWAY: FROM GANDER TO BROADWAY AND BEYOND

THE LAST GROUP OF PASSENGERS DIVERTED TO GANDER BEFORE BOARDING A DEPARTING FLIGHT. SOURCE: TORONTO STAR

The town of Gander, Newfoundland and Labrador, is a decidedly unlikely setting for a Tony Award-winning Broadway musical. But the true story that inspired Come From Away was borne of deeply unlikely, tragic circumstances—namely, those of September 11, 2001. On that morning, two hijacked commercial flights flown by terrorists crashed into the Twin Towers at the World Trade Center in Manhattan, a third hijacked plane penetrated the Pentagon outside Washington, D.C., and a fourth plane crashed in a field in Pennsylvania after passengers fought to wrest control of it from the hijackers. Nearly three thousand people lost their lives on that traumatic day. What followed in the wake of 9/11 was a period of profound grief and anxiety, and a stark reorientation of many fundamental aspects of American society. Come From Away, however, is not directly concerned with those wider reverberations, nor with the particular, shocking events of 9/11 itself. Rather, it is a more intimate story—set not in New York or Washington, but in a small Canadian town. It centres on themes of neighbourly warmth, kindness, and resilience in response to unspeakable tragedy.

In the hours immediately following the attacks, the entire airspace over the United States and Canada was closed. Of critical importance, Canada instituted “Operation Yellow Ribbon,” diverting planes then in the air above North America to the nearest Canadian airport. Forty-seven flights were diverted to Halifax, thirty-four to Vancouver, with smaller numbers of planes sent to land in St. John’s, Winnipeg, Toronto, Calgary, and Montreal, among other Canadian airports. While those flights arrived unexpectedly at medium-sized or large Canadian cities with resources to accommodate them, thirty-eight commercial flights, carrying more than 6,600 passengers and crew members, were diverted to Gander, a Newfoundland town of around 10,000 residents. As then-Prime Minister Jean Chrétien observed, the population of Gander more than doubled overnight.

Faced with these circumstances, the residents of Gander and its neighbouring towns banded together to open their homes, along with community spaces like schools and churches, taking in stranded passengers and airline crew. The Newfoundlanders also provided their unplanned visitors with food and clothing, as well as emotional support and good humour in dark times. While the passengers and airline crew waited around five days for flights that would take them home, they found a welcoming home away from home, and made unlikely new friends, in a place that many of them would never have known existed, much less ever visited, otherwise.

It was this extraordinary hospitality and generosity under extreme conditions that the Canadian playwright duo Irene Sankoff and David Hein aimed to capture in Come From Away, with songs like “38 Planes,” “Blankets and Bedding,” and “Somewhere in the Middle of Nowhere.” A decade after 9/11, Come From Away was workshopped in 2011 and first performed in 2013 by students at Sheridan College in Oakville, Ontario. Its initial professional production was at San Diego’s La Jolla Playhouse in 2015, where the show’s planned run was extended due to enthusiastic responses from audiences. Performances followed at the Seattle Repertory Theatre, before Come From Away traveled east to Washington, D.C., where its run at Ford’s Theatre was again extended thanks to audience demand. In November 2016, Come From Away was staged at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto, and set a single-week record of $1.7 million in ticket sales.

In early 2017, Come From Away opened on Broadway at the Gerald Schoenfeld Theatre. This popular and critically acclaimed production earned seven Tony Award nominations, including Best Musical, and won for Christopher Ashley’s direction—the production also received the Drama Desk awards for Outstanding Musical, Outstanding Book of a Musical (Sankoff and Hein), and Outstanding Featured Actress in a Musical (Jen Collela). In 2018, Come From Away debuted in Ireland at Dublin’s Abbey Theatre in preparation for its successful West End production at the Phoenix Theatre from 2019 to 2023 (with a period of suspension due to Covid-19). Since 2019, Come From Away has been performed in Australia, Sweden, the Netherlands, Finland, Panama, Japan, South Korea, and the Philippines, among other countries.

This worldwide exposure is surely something that residents of Gander could never have anticipated prior to their sudden connection with the world-altering events of September 11, 2001. Come From Away has become the most widely known depiction of those events as they played out on the ground in Gander, but this remarkable story has also been recounted in a book of oral history by Jim DeFede, The Day the World Came to Town (2002); a radio play that aired on BBC Radio Four, The Day the Planes Came (2008); and a television movie that aired on NBC, Diverted (2009), among other works. These retellings across various media and Come From Away’s tremendous global success—including versions of Sankoff and Hein’s musical translated into Spanish, French, German, and Portuguese—speak above all to the essential universality and powerful resonance of this heartwarming story of people responding to the worst of times with the best of humanity.
